Excluded taxes

Some countries or jurisdictions have (or had) beverage taxes that we chose not to include in these maps. These are listed below with brief explanations for why we chose to exclude them here:

Estonia (removed): The tax Estonia attempted to adopt in 2017 was not implemented due to constitutional issues and was removed from the map. (TaxFoundation.org)
Federated States of Micronesia: Soft drink import tax same rate as for water. (Teng et al. 2019)
Fiji: Additional import taxes of 15% excise + 9% VAT are excluded, as rates are the same for soft drinks and plain waters. Norway (removed): Tax law was abolished 1 January 2021. (WCRF NOURISHING database)
Papua New Guinea: Sugary drink import tariff is same rate as for water. (Teng et al. 2019)
Palau (removed): Sugary drink import tariff is same rate as for water. (Teng et al. 2019)
Solomon Islands: Sugary drink import tariff is same rate as for water. (Teng et al. 2019)
Sri Lanka: Tax drastically reduced prior to implementation, rendering it an ineffective public health measure. (New York Times)
